Re-opening of Newwood St. E. Church.

The re-opening services of the Newwood St. E. Church will be held Sunday. This particular service will be held in the church since the fire. When a total amount was found almost a total wreath in the interior, and the organ pipes were found in the organ house, it seemed as if they would not be able to repair the damaged church. But they are equal to the task, and the organ pipes have got their church in as good or better condition than before the fire. This particular service will be held Sunday along the track of the destroying waters. They deserve great credit for the promptness with which they have repaired their house, and we hope that other churches will participate in the re-opening services. A good time is expected.
